Mapping the Anthropocene in Ōtepoti/Dunedin: climate change, community and research in the creative arts

Dates: Friday September 25 – Sunday Sept 27, 2020.

Increasingly, the wider creative arts are used to bridge the abstract knowledge of climate change and its lived experience across generations and in local as well as global contexts.

We seek papers, presentations or displays that use creative media to make intelligible and relevant the complex data of climate change and the wider issues of planetary changes characterized by the term Anthropocene. Please see the website for suggested themes and conference streams.

Venue: Dunedin School of Art and Otago Polytechnic | Te Kura Matatini ki Otago, Dunedin Ōtepoti

(PAPER)

Abstract Title:

Author/s:

Author affiliations:

Abstract: (Abstract text maximum of 250 words)