SIGNAL ICT GRAD SCHOOL

Technology is rapidly reshaping the way we live, learn, and work, and the tech sector offers global employment opportunities. Signal ICT Grad School (Signal) helps people with non-tech degrees gain an industry-respected graduate diploma, and industry experience in the technology sector through a 200-hour internship. Graduates work in many exciting roles throughout New Zealand.

Signal welcomes students from all degree backgrounds, from Accounting to Zoology, into its one-year SHIFT programme. SHIFT offers an innovative, industry-focused experience to help you shift into the dynamic, fast-paced, and growing tech sector.

Signal is the innovative collaboration between the top five tertiary providers in New Zealand's South Island. We partner with the University of Otago, Otago Polytechnic, University of Canterbury, Lincoln University and the Ara Institute of Canterbury.

Our programmes allow learners to draw upon this wealth of academic knowledge, plus provides the opportunity to be introduced to, and work with NZ's leading technology companies as part of their course.

Our Dunedin studio is based in the progressive Warehouse Precinct amongst the city's most well-established and innovative global tech companies, only a few minutes from Dunedin's CBD, and a short walk from the picturesque University of Otago and Otago Polytechnic campuses.

PROGRAMME DETAILS

SHIFT caters to any degree background, and provides the skills and learning opportunities required to help graduates gain employment in the tech sector.

Our students have varied career aspirations, meaning a “one-size-fits-all” approach doesn’t work. SHIFT is flexible and a customised study plan is created for each student. This enables you to focus on an area of tech that best suits your personal goals.

Some suggested study pathways include software or general development, website design, business analysis, project management, technical writing, user experience design, software testing, digital marketing, and GIS. Our advisors are happy to discuss other possible study pathways.

The one-year programme is innovative because it combines traditional tertiary style teaching with modern immersive industry-focused project-based learning.

SHIFT begins with a fundamentals course that introduces the breadth of the tech sector and career opportunities, frames the professional standards of the sector, and introduces Agile and Design thinking. Industry visits and guest speakers are an integral part of this part of the programme. During this beginning phase, you will also study the first of two elective papers required for your individualised study pathway.

For students without a tech background, a preparation paper is offered before SHIFT begins. This helps provide a solid foundation so you hit the ground running.

Later, participants work in small groups on real-world, hands-on, practical tech inspired problems. You will develop key ‘soft skills’ that employers value, including, effective communication, time and project management, being an effective team member, problem solving, and reflective learning.

In the second semester students undertake their second elective paper, and more industry projects. SHIFT’s capstone paper is a 200hr industry placement, where you work on a value-adding project for a real organisation. This is a great opportunity to engage with industry, and further test your skills. Many of our graduates find employment through the connections they made during their placement and industry projects.

ST HILDA'S COLLEGIATE

A leading New Zealand secondary school for girls, St Hilda's Collegiate School is a modern, attractive institution situated in the heart of Dunedin.

First opened in 1896, St Hilda's is a positive, friendly environment where we encourage and celebrate excellence and individual achievement. Competition for places by New Zealand students is strong, attracted by St Hilda's blend of the traditional and the innovative.

Offering an impressive eLearning programme, it is our role to prepare students for their futures. One of the first schools in New Zealand to have a 1:1 laptop programme, we encourage active learning, teaching girls to use a range of digital tools. In 2014, St Hilda's was designated the first and currently only Apple Distinguished School in New Zealand.

For international students, we provide specialised English language tuition, which is complemented with regular classes, where they work alongside our New Zealand students, building strong friendships and connections.

St Hilda's has a huge range of sporting and cultural activities on offer, whether at the highest levels of sporting competition or simply to enjoy the social side of sport. We also promote student involvement in the cultural realm, from dance to singing, acting to playing an instrument, celebrating and supporting the talents and passions of every student.

UNIVERSITY OF OTAGO FOUNDATION YEAR

The University of Otago Foundation Year is one of New Zealand's premier pre-tertiary providers. Located on campus in a world class facility at the University of Otago, students are well prepared for their future higher education.

Our Foundation Year academically prepares students for their intended degrees at the University of Otago. Students are taught in University lecture theatres and laboratories, ensuring they feel confident and familiar with the university environment. Teaching methods are the same as the methods students will encounter at university - with a mixture of lectures, tutorials and laboratories.

The University of Otago is the only university in New Zealand that has a Language Centre and Foundation Year as part of the university study environment - students will be impressed with not only the teaching they receive, but also the outstanding campus environment.
